

Change is good, right?

Contributed by Mike Nichols
Monday, 09 August 2004
Last Updated Tuesday, 15 August 2006

Just when you think it is safe to come back, we up and change it again!

That's right, there is a new look and feel to the site, once again. This time, in fact, the whole structure of the site has changed, in hopes that we will increase both the speed of the site, and general interation. As part of the change, be looking for our "new" family blog, which will provide us a better avenue to provide updates, as well as allow you, the user, to interact with us. The site is only a tool, so we are looking forward to more participation from our family and friends.

The positive side of the change is that it shouldn't take much to understand the flow of the site. Some things haven't changed at all, such as the Photo Gallery. All the pictures, and albums, from the old site, have been brought over for your viewing pleasure. The change in the content management of this site may take a bit to get used to, for us, thus please bear with us as we experiment and find our groove.

In the end, if you are having issues, please feel free to drop us a line. There is a Contact Us section with the information you will need to get in touch. Also feel free to drop us a line if there are things you enjoy; we are always looking for confirmation that change is good.

Thanks!